Before using these sounds, you agree to be bound by the terms of this EULA. If you do not agree to the terms of this EULA, you will not be able to use any of our sound libraries or sound effects.

Anyone found breaching this agreement will be subject to criminal and civil penalties and liable for monetary damages. Please respect our hard work.

LICENSING INFORMATION

This license is granted to a single user only. Anyone who uses and has access to the .wav files directly is considered a user and will need their own license.

Note: Once the sounds are implemented into a game engine, programmers and other team members can modify the code and data for the specific project. But they would need their own license if they wanted to take the .wav files out for their own use or to modify the .wav files directly.

Each license fee is a onetime only purchase.
